

21st Century Communities in Cheshire

How can Cheshire Communities respond to the challenge of Climate Change?

Cheshire Community Council, Cheshire Federation of Women's Institutes and Cheshire County Council are hosting a free event that might provide some of the answers.

When: Wednesday 12th September, 7-9pm, Middlewich Civic Hall

The aim is to bring together representatives from Cheshire communities to give them the tools to respond to the climate change challenge. Hear from community representatives that have already taken up this challenge. Find out what they've achieved so far. Make useful contacts and consider how their ideas might work in your community.

Those who may be interested in attending might include Local Environmental Groups, Parish Councils, Village Hall Committee Members, Parish Plan Groups, Parochial Church Councils, Members of Women's Institutes and other interested individuals.

Topics to be covered include

- Reducing the energy use and improving the energy efficiency of your home, community building or church.
- Renewable energy sources in your village.
- Information on funding sources to support environmentally focused projects

To register for this event contact call Louise Hare on 01244 354 115 or email louise.hare@cheshirecc.org.uk

Part of ACRE's agenda to support rural communities to respond to climate change and part of Cheshire's Year of Action on Climate Change.